

Rev. Thomas Frederick was ordained by the Unity School of Christianity the year 1995 at Unity Village in Missouri.

His first church was in El Cajon, California, where he served as an intern minister. During this ministry, he worked as volunteer staff with Dr. Chopra at the Chopra Center for Wellbeing. He participated in the New Warriors group during this time as well.

After leaving there he was invited by Marianne Williamson to serve as associate minister at the Church of Today in Warren, MI. He also started working as a chaplain at Providence Hospital in Southfield, MI. He then served as Senior Minister at Unity of Pontiac. During this time, he earned a Bachelor's degree in Community Development at Central Michigan University, a Master's degree in Pastoral Ministry at the Ecumenical Theological Seminary, and a Master's degree in Social Justice at Marygrove College. His daughter, who has been and continues to be an important part of his life, has just completed her first year at Wayne State University in Detroit.
